Who Won the Challenge?

Winners to be announced at Water~Wise March 7th!

As a Water Conservation Challenge participant, you may attend Water~Wise for free. If you'd like to reserve a lunch, the cost is $12 per person. The $12 lunch fee also entitles you to put your name in a drawing for rain barrels, low flow toilets, and other water-saving goodies, and to join us for Happy Hour from 3-5pm. In either case, you must register by filling out the back of this newsletter and mailing it to the address indicated. Thank you!

The Waukesha Water Conservation Coalition

In 2006, Waukesha Mayor, Larry Nelson, and County Executive, Dan Vrakas, called for a coalition dedicated to Water Conservation in Waukesha County. The coalition consists of environmental groups, county, city and municipal leaders, the Waukesha Water Utility, college and school officials, scientists, engineers, attorneys, the Milwaukee Metropolitan Sewerage District and private individuals. All share the common desire to conserve and protect Waukesha County's critical resource, water.
