ESTABLISHING A DEMENTIA-CAPABLE WAUKESHA COUNTY

In February 2014, the Wisconsin Department of Health Services published a Dementia Care System Redesign Plan [https://www.dhs.wisconsin.gov/publications/p0/p00586.pdf] with the vision of creating a more “Dementia-Capable Wisconsin.” The plan is being implemented across the state through many partners, but primarily through ADRC’s (Aging and Disability Resource Centers). The five focus areas are community awareness and services; facility-based, long-term care; capacity for dementia-related crisis response and stabilization; dementia care guiding principles and training; and research and data. The primary goal is to support people with Alzheimer’s disease and related dementias so each person has the highest quality of life possible. (Wisconsin Department of Health Services, October, 2016)

In Waukesha County there is a lot of activity focused on supporting individuals with dementia and their caregivers. ADRC staff, the Alzheimer’s Association and many collaborating organizations have invested time and energy into creating a Dementia-Capable Waukesha County. Two communities, Oconomowoc and Pewaukee, have developed Dementia Friendly Community coalitions and are actively working on defined objectives to make their communities more dementia friendly. Community presentations, business trainings, memory screens, and individual care consultations are offered, with the intent of building community awareness, providing education, teaching businesses how to be dementia friendly, and to provide early detection of Alzheimer’s disease and other dementias. Other communities in Waukesha County have also expressed interest in becoming dementia friendly. Even though a city or village may not be in the process of developing a dementia friendly coalition, there are still many dementia related activities taking place. For example, in 2018, Memory Cafés, which are social gatherings for individuals with dementia and their care partners, will be held at eleven different locations in Waukesha County; dementia friendly community and crisis response training will be provided in Big Bend; dementia friendly business trainings will be provided; and memory screenings are already scheduled throughout Waukesha County. All of these activities align with the State’s Dementia Redesign Plan and help support individuals with dementia to remain as independent as possible.

Unfortunately, even with all of the positive efforts, dementia-related crisis do occur. In an effort to provide dementia crisis stabilization, the ADRC received a grant from the Wisconsin Department of Health Services, designated to work collaboratively with local partners to increase the dementia capability of their crisis response system, including strategies to improve crisis planning, response, and stabilization for people with dementia.

You Can’t Always Believe Your Caller ID

Scam artists, or scammers, realize many people no longer answer calls from phone numbers with unfamiliar area codes, or calls that display either no caller ID information or “unknown.” As a way around this, scammers are now employing a technique called “spoofing.” Spoofing occurs when the caller deliberately falsifies the information they are transmitting to your caller ID, to disguise their true identity in an attempt to trick you into giving away valuable personal and financial information. By using spoofing technology, scammers can make it seem as though the call is coming from a local number, nearby person or business, a bank, creditor, insurance company or even the government. The possibilities of whom the scammer can pretend to be is endless. While the caller’s information may appear local or familiar, the calls are often placed by scammers who are actually located outside the state or country. Sometimes, the call will begin as a recorded message instead of a live person, and you are directed to press a number to speak to a live operator. This is referred to as a “robocall.”

What can you do if you think you’re being spoofed? Unfortunately, you may not be able to tell right away if an incoming call is spoofed, so be careful about responding to any request for personal identifying information. As a rule of thumb, never give out personal information such as account numbers, Social Security numbers, mother’s maiden names, passwords or other identifying information in response to unexpected calls, or if the call appears suspicious. Rather, if you get an inquiry from someone claiming to represent a company or a government agency and they are seeking your personal information, hang up and call the company or government agency back using the phone number on your account statement, in the phone book, or on the company's or government agency’s website. This will allow you to verify the authenticity of the request.

Under the Truth in Caller ID Act, FCC rules prohibit any person or entity from transmitting misleading or inaccurate caller ID information with the intent to defraud, cause harm, or wrongly obtain anything of value. Anyone who is illegally spoofing can face penalties of up to $10,000 for each violation. If you have received a “spoofed” call, you should report it to the Federal Communications Commission (FCC). If you have lost money to a criminal scam, you should report the matter to your local and federal law enforcement officials.

HOW DO YOU RECHARGE?

As a caregiver, you know how important it is to take care of yourself so you have the energy needed to care for your loved one. Without taking time for yourself you are at risk for burnout, depression and physical illness. The importance of finding ways to “recharge your battery” cannot be stressed enough. If it has been so long that you can’t remember what it is that gives you energy and feeds your soul, here are some suggestions to consider.

- Go for a walk – around the block, at the gym, or find a path in your home
- Take a bubble bath
- Read a fun book in your favorite chair
- Call a friend you haven’t talked with in awhile
- Meditate
- Listen to music – just listen, don’t do anything else
- Make music – play piano, guitar, sing
- Have lunch or coffee with a friend
- Write – a journal, poem, book, letter
- Participate in an exercise class
- Play cards
- Go to a movie – with a friend or alone
- Bird watching
- Put a puzzle together
- Sew or do a craft, scrapbook, paint or draw
- Go to a fair or an antique show
- Make a call to someone you love
- Have lunch or coffee with a friend
- Write – a journal, poem, book, letter
- Participate in an exercise class
- Play cards
- Go to a movie – with a friend or alone
- Bird watching
- Put a puzzle together
- Sew or do a craft, scrapbook, paint or draw
- Go to a fair or an antique show

Now that you have some ideas of what you’d like to do to recharge, how can you make it a reality? Dream it, plan it, do it! Choose an activity monthly, weekly or even daily, write it on your calendar and keep it a priority to follow through! If you are a 24-7 caregiver this will take additional planning, and possibly additional money, but it is well worth it. (How can you put a price on your health?)

When you live with the person you are caring for you will need to be creative in your planning. Sometimes you can re-energize yourself by doing something special in your home while your loved one is napping or engaged in an activity that holds his/her attention for a predictable amount of time. Resist your urge to always fill this time with chores and instead, treat yourself to “you time.” For other activities, you may need to have someone watch your loved one while you get your well-deserved respite. Several options are available to you including:

- hiring someone privately
- contacting a home care agency
- using a volunteer through ERAs (call 262-549-3348)
- asking a neighbor, relative or friend to stay with your loved one while you get away
- take your loved one to an adult day program such as

Taking care of yourself is so very important, not only to your own self, but to the person you are caring for and all the people who love and care about YOU! Don’t push it off another day. Find ways to recharge so that you can be the best caregiver you can be!

Dear Ina,

Do you have a rating system available for all the Assisted Living facilities in Waukesha County? I want my mom to go somewhere she’ll enjoy for the rest of her life. I want to ensure she’ll never have to move, she receives the best care, and that there is plenty for her to do. Can you help?

~Karen Carin

Dear Karen,

Choosing an assisted living facility is every bit as difficult and complicated as choosing a new home to buy. Maybe even more so! Assisted Living Facilities are required to provide not only room and board, but also health monitoring, assistance with medication, information and referral services, leisure time services, and personal cares services such as help with dressing, eating, bathing, grooming, toileting, and mobility. Additional services provided may include transportation, counseling, etc.

Who should consider living in assisted living? Usually, people who are in assisted living facilities need assistance in one or more of the following areas: Self-care, diminishing health, physical, or mental abilities, lack of community support or family unable to provide care or supervision. Generally, if a person only needs minimal care, it will be much cheaper for them to hire an in-home caregiver. Also, if your loved one is not ready to move into assisted living, you may wish to consider seeking adult day center services. However, if the safety of the person is in question or if they need more assistance than in-home help is able to give, assisted living facilities are great options.

Many people call the ADRC looking for referrals to the ‘good’ assisted living facilities. Unfortunately, we can’t give advice or endorse any specific facilities and there is no five star rating system available. One size does not fit all! But we can provide you with some tools to make an informed decision for yourself.

First, you need to understand there are differences between assisted living facilities. There are three different types of live-in assisted living facilities: Adult Family Homes (AFH), Community-Based Residential Facilities (CBRF), and Residential Care Apartment Complexes (RCAC). Each facility has its own certification or licensing regulations. For more information on the different types of assisted living facilities and to search for assisted living facilities by county in Wisconsin, visit https://www.dhs.wisconsin.gov/guide/assisted-living.htm.

Second, know what you are looking for. Does your loved one have memory problems? Do they have the ability to privately pay for the assisted living facility? Will they need public funding soon (T-19/Medicaid)? Some assisted living facilities require you to pay out of pocket for a certain amount of time before accepting public funding. Speak with the facility about this before making your decision.

We strongly suggest that you take some time to tour some facilities. Ask questions and make observations. For a printable guide to help you choose an assisted living facility, visit: https://www.dhs.wisconsin.gov/publications/p6/p60579.pdf.

♦ Notice the structure of the facility. Is the structure sound? Are doorways and hallways big enough to accommodate wheelchairs?

♦ Speak with the staff. Do staff appear neat and clean? Do staff seem busy and rushed? Do staff show interest in the residents?

♦ Speak with the residents (if possible). Do they appear happy? Do they feel that they receive respect? Are they receiving good care? Ask if the food is good.

♦ Ask health related questions: Can the residents retain their personal physician? Does the facility provide transportation to doctor’s appointments and is there a charge? Are staff trained in First Aid?

♦ Look at Bedrooms/Apartments: Will the room meet your mother’s needs? Will she get to keep the room if she were to move to publicly funded benefits? Do the residents use their own furnishings? Are provisions made for privacy? Is the bathroom conveniently located? Is the bathroom well-maintained and odor-free? Are there grab bars near the toilet and bathing areas?

Finally, check the Department of Health Services website for assisted living facility Inspection Surveys and Violations. Surveys or Inspections are completed by the Department of Quality Assurance every 2 years. For more information on Assisted Living Facility Profiles and understanding the Survey History that is completed every 2 years, visit https://www.dhs.wisconsin.gov/guide/basics.htm.

Good luck with your search! And remember, we’re here if you have other questions. For more information on assisted living facilities in your area or to see if you qualify for public funding that may help pay for assisted living, call the ADRC at 262-548-7848.

Attention Users of ADRC Specialized Transportation:

Rider Share to Increase on January 1, 2018

Effective January 1, 2018, the ADRC fare assistance for a passenger ride has decreased $0.25 per one-way ride. This means that the rider share/your share will be increasing by $0.25 per one-way ride.

Shared-Fare Taxi Program - Effective January 1, 2018

- Rider pays first $3.75 per one-way ride
- ADRC pays up to the next $5.25
- Rider pays remaining balance of one-way ride cost

Rideline Program (Accessible Van Service) - Effective January 1, 2018

A sliding scale is used to determine an individual’s fare and is based on the ability to pay.

One-way fares start at:
- $3.85 one-way trip within same community.
- $4.90 one-way trip between communities.
- $7.50 one-way trip to adjoining county for medical services ONLY, but ONLY if service cannot be duplicated in Waukesha County.

If an individual chooses to not disclose income, the individual will be in the highest fare range, and one-way fares will be $8.55, $11.15, & $17.90, depending upon origin & destination

Please contact the ADRC at 262-548-7848 to apply for transportation assistance.
Evidence Based Health Promotion Program

All programs offered by the ADRC of Waukesha County meet the highest-level research criteria as determined by the National Council on Aging and the National Institute of Health. The primary goals of Evidence Based Education Programs are to empower participants to adopt healthy behaviors, improve the health status of participants and to help participants prevent the onset or progression of disease health problems. For a full list of these and future classes available, contact the ADRC (ask for Lee) or check out our website at https://www.waukeshacounty.gov/ADRCWorkshops/.

Stepping On (Falls Prevention) - This 7 week program is perfect for senior adults who have fallen in the past year or for those who have a "healthy respect" for the consequences of a fall. Independent living adults without dementia will see the most improvement. Weekly topics explore the role vision, medications, sleep, home hazards and footwear play in falls prevention. Simple balance and strengthening exercises are learned each week.

Realistic New Year Resolutions

Each New Year approximately 50% of the population make resolutions. Among the top resolutions are: weight loss, exercise, smoking cessation, money management, and debt reduction. However, what usually happens is, by February, people start backsliding. By the following December, most are right back where they started, or often even further behind.

Why do so many people not keep their resolutions? According to psychologists and psychotherapists, making resolutions work for you involves changing behaviors, and in order to change behaviors, you have to change your thinking. Here are some helpful tips to make your New Year’s resolution a success for 2018:

Never set your goals too high. Make sure your resolution is something you can actually achieve.

Engage others in making resolutions. The more the merrier. You may even help someone else achieve their goal too!

Wasting time-Don’t waste time on the unimportant things in life. Prioritize what needs to get done.

You are worth it! If you’re making a resolution, it means you want to make changes in your life for the better.

Endure. It’s a marathon, not a sprint. Set small goals for yourself and reward your own achievements!

Accountability. Ask for help or encouragement from others. Consider signing a commitment contract.

Reflect. Look at past resolutions; what worked, what didn’t? Learn from your mistakes so this year will be a success!
A Healthy Way to Start the New Year: Volunteer!

Last month, our front page article discussed giving back to your community. “Share Your Gifts the Whole Year Through” focused on various ways to volunteer in your community. With the new year here, why not resolve to make 2018 a happier, healthier year by volunteering? Did you know that giving back has health benefits and is a great way to start the new year? It has been widely evident that volunteering improves older adults’ mental and physical well-being, but last July the Corporation for National and Community Service (CNCS) released new data showing further evidence that consistent volunteering can improve the health and well-being of people 55 and older. CNCS tracked 1,000 of their Senior Corps volunteers from when they first signed on to the program as a volunteer. Nearly half of these volunteers who stayed with the program reported improvements in health and well-being and sixty percent reported decreased feelings of isolation. Seventy percent reported significant improvement with the symptoms of depression that they initially reported. For more information, go to: https://www.nationalservice.gov/programs/senior-corps.

Older adults who volunteer typically experience better health than those who do not. Volunteering in later life is associated with decreased mortality risk, fewer functional limitations, better mental health and greater levels of life satisfaction. In addition, volunteering can foster a sense of meaning and purpose, and when older individuals feel purpose in life, they are empowered to make healthier living choices. Furthermore, older adults make valuable contributions to their communities. It’s a win-win all around.

Here are several websites to search and customize volunteer opportunities that are right for you:
https://www.volunteermatch.org/
https://www.unitedwaygmwc.org/home
http://www.createthegood.org/about

Volunteering your time and energy to help those in need is a great way to give back to your community and improve your health and well-being at the same time. Contact your local Aging Services Agency to find out how you can help.

Medicare’s Preventive Benefits Can Help You Kick the Habit

By the GWAAR Medicare Outreach Team

Medicare’s Preventive Benefits can help people with Medicare feel better and live healthier. The best way to stay healthy is to live a healthy lifestyle. But what if you smoke? Smoking tobacco can cause many health problems, like heart disease, respiratory diseases, and lung cancer. Quitting smoking can help prevent these health problems, and Medicare can help you take the first step.

With the New Year upon us, this is a great time to talk with your doctor about quitting, if you smoke. Medicare covers eight face-to-face smoking cessation counseling sessions during a 12-month period. If you haven’t been diagnosed with an illness caused or complicated by tobacco use, you pay nothing for these counseling sessions, as long as you get them from a qualified doctor or another Medicare provider.

Medicare also covers a lung cancer screening once per year for people who meet all of the following conditions:

- Age 55-77
- No current signs or symptoms of lung cancer
- Current smoker or have quit within last 15 years
- A tobacco smoking history of an average of one pack a day for at least 30 years
- Obtain written order from physician or qualified non-physician practitioner

You generally pay nothing for this screening if your doctor or qualified health care provider accepts assignment.

Remember, taking advantage of these and other Part B preventive services and screenings is an important step in promoting good health.

More information about the preventive tests/screenings covered by Medicare can be found in the Medicare and You 2018 handbook or on the Medicare website (www.medicare.gov).

Welcome to Medicare Class

The Aging and Disability Resource Center of Waukesha County hosts ‘Welcome to Medicare’ classes on the second Wednesday of each month either 1pm-3pm or 5:30pm-7:30pm. Topics covered will be the basic parts of Medicare (A, B, C, D) and how they work. Information will be provided on how to enroll, available insurance options, and the drug coverage requirement. Lower income benefit programs will also be reviewed. It is suggested that you attend one class 2-3 months prior to starting Medicare. The class is located at the Health and Human Services Building at 514 Riverview Avenue. To register for this free class or for more information, please contact the ADRC at 262-548-7848. You can also register online at: http://www.waukeshacounty.gov/ElderBenefitSpecialistProgram/
Beneficial Beans

What food is high in protein, has virtually no fat and has more fiber than most whole grain foods? The answer is beans! January 6th is National Bean Day! Beans are good sources of fiber and protein. Eating beans on a regular basis may improve blood cholesterol. What better way to celebrate the new year than with a couple new recipes that are healthy and may help keep you fuller longer.

Black Bean Salsa
Makes: 12 (¼ cup) servings
Ingredients:
- 1 can black beans, drained and rinsed
- 1 can Rotel diced tomatoes and green chilies
- ½ cup whole kernel corn, fresh, frozen, or canned
- ¼ cup chopped red onion
- 1 teaspoon lime juice

Directions:
Stir ingredients together. Cover and refrigerate for 30 minutes to allow flavors to blend.
Serve with tortilla chips or tacos.

Garbanzo Beans/Chickpea Hummus
Makes: 4 (½ cup) servings
Ingredients:
- 1 can chickpeas (Garbanzo Beans)
- 3 Tablespoons lemon juice
- ¼ teaspoon ground cumin
- 1 Tablespoon olive oil
- 1 small garlic clove, minced or ¼ teaspoon garlic powder
- Pinch cayenne pepper
- 2 Tablespoons minced fresh parsley or 2 teaspoons dried parsley
- 1 Tablespoon tahini (optional)

Directions:
Drain chickpeas, reserving juice. Do not rinse.
Put chickpeas in a food processor or blender and blend with 2 tablespoons of reserved juice, lemon juice, cumin, olive oil, garlic, and cayenne pepper.
Add parsley and tahini and pulse briefly just to mix.
Tahini is a sesame seed paste, often found in the Asian food section.
Great with vegetables, pita chips, pretzels, and on sandwiches or wraps!!

Chili with Kidney Beans
Makes: 8 (1 cup) servings
Ingredients:
- 2 cans (16 oz) kidney beans, undrained
- 1 lb lean ground beef
- ½ cup onion, chopped
- ½ cup green bell pepper, chopped
- 1 can petite diced tomatoes
- ½ cup water
- ½ teaspoon kosher salt
- 1 teaspoon garlic powder
- 1 ½ teaspoon chili powder

Optional Toppings: shredded cheddar cheese, sour cream, onions, or crackers.
Directions:
Brown beef over medium high heat
Once browned, drain excess grease and add onions and bell pepper and cook for an additional 5-8 minutes.
Stir in the remaining ingredients and bring to a boil.
Reduce heat to medium-low or low and cover. Simmer for 10 minutes, stirring every few minutes.
Serve with optional toppings, as desired.

Cold Weather Resources

Winter is upon us. As the temperatures drop, the ADRC wants to help ensure you stay safe and warm this winter. There are a variety of community resources available if you find yourself unexpectedly battling the elements. The Waukesha Public Library is a warm place to stop in, pick up a book and relax in a quiet, cozy environment. The Hope Center has a meal site located in downtown Waukesha and offers day programming to help those who may be exposed to the cold weather. The Housing Action Coalition of Waukesha County and The Community Action Coalition of Southeastern Wisconsin offer motel vouchers (subject to availability) to individuals and families who may need a short term stay in a motel during cold weather. Below we have included a guide listing all of the Winter Warming Centers and Emergency Shelters in our area. Contact the Housing Action Coalition for updates at: 262-522-3815 or call 2-1-1.

We all know what a long cold winter can be like in Wisconsin. But do we always remember to make sure we prepare ourselves and remember the safety of ourselves and others in the community? According to the National Safety Council, these are some of the many precautions and simple things to remember that can make a safer winter for everyone:

Prepare your vehicle.
- Have your vehicle inspected from tires to fluids and battery life.
- Keep a flashlight, blanket, hat, mittens, socks, flares, first aid kit, jumper cables, non-perishable high-energy foods, ice salt or cat litter and a shovel.

Prepare your home.
- December and January are peak months for CO₂ poisonings. Change the battery in your CO₂ detector; buy one if you do not have one and if you have one make sure it is not expired.
- NEVER heat your home with a gas range or oven.
- NEVER run a car or truck inside an attached garage.
- Have plenty of non-perishable foods, water and a first aid kit in your home.
- Have your furnace checked and change the filter.

Use extra caution doing outside activities.
- Wear proper clothing, boots, hats and mittens.
- Watch your step and use ice melt or cat litter for safer walking for you and others in your neighborhood.
- Shoveling tips:
  - Do not shovel after eating or while smoking.
  - Take it slow and stretch out before you begin.
  - Shovel only fresh, powdery snow; it's lighter.
  - When possible, push the snow rather than lifting it.
  - If you do lift it, use a small shovel or only partially fill the shovel. Lift with your legs, not your back.
  - Do not work to the point of exhaustion.

Help others in your neighborhood if you can.
- Check on elders and persons with a disability.
- Assist others with snow removal.
- Offer to get their mail or newspaper for them.
- Prepare a meal or offer to go to the store for someone.

Martin Luther King, Jr. Day - January 15, 2018

We remember and pay tribute to Dr. King’s principles, perhaps best depicted by his “I Have a Dream” speech delivered on August 28, 1963 on the steps of the Lincoln Memorial.

Join us to celebrate the legacy of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr on Monday, January 15th, 2018, at Waukesha Area Technical College, Richard T. Anderson Center, 800 Main St., Pewaukee from 11:00 a.m. to 1:00 p.m. Dr. Howard Fuller, the keynote speaker, will present on how we can bring the dream of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. to life. The event will also include a special choral performance by Waukesha West High School Students. This event is free and open to the public, but advance registration is required at https://tinyurl.com/WCTCMLK18. Register early as this annual event is well-attended and space is limited! Lunch is provided.

“I have a dream that one day this nation will rise up and live out the true meaning of its creed, We hold these truths to be self-evident: that all men are created equal.”

Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr.

Lessons from Geese

As each bird flaps its wings, it creates an ‘uplift’ for the bird following. By flying in a “V” formation, the whole flock adds 71% greater flying range than if the bird flew alone. Whenever a goose falls out of formation, it suddenly feels the drag and resistance of trying to fly alone, and quickly gets back into formation to take advantage of the ‘lifting power’ of the bird immediately in front. When the lead goose gets tired, it rotates back into the formation and another goose flies at the point position.

If a goose gets sick or wounded or is shot down, two geese drop out of formation and follow it down to help and protect it. They stay with it until it is able to fly again or dies. Then they launch out on their own, with another formation, or catch up with the flock. That’s interdependence.

People who share a common direction and sense of community can get where they are going quicker and easier because they are traveling on the thrust of one another. If we have as much sense as geese, we too will stand by each other in difficult times as well as when we are strong.

To this remarkable Newsletter Committee, to all of my co-workers and friends at the ADRC, and to the many I have had the pleasure of working with over the course of my 27 years – stand by one and other, support each other and continue to do the amazing work you do for the citizens of Waukesha County. I will miss you all!
