

Waukesha Pretrial Intoxicated Driver Intervention Program
Description	The Waukesha Pretrial Intoxicated Driver Intervention Program (IDIP) provides intensive supervision for drunk drivers charged with a second or greater OWI offense shortly after arrest in an effort to get them into treatment as soon as possible during the pretrial phase. Compliance with program requirements and treatment may result in reduced jail sentence. The program is aimed at reducing the rate of pretrial recidivism among repeat drunk drivers. The program provides monitoring and support; referrals to Driver Safety, AODA assessment and treatment, and to other community resources as needs are identified; conducts random alcohol and drug testing; provides continuous alcohol monitoring with the utilization of SCRAM CAM technology; and ensures clients are notified and attend each court hearing. In 2017, WCS served over 700 defendants: 96% attended all court appearances, 4% were re-arrested, and 4,800 pretrial jail days were saved.
