Fox River Park is part of the Waukesha County Park System. This 8,500-acre, natural resources-based system consists of diverse landscapes, high-quality natural areas, a variety of trails, and beautiful lakes, ponds, and waterways.

Located on the Fox River in the Village of Waukesha, this 262-acre parcel provides a combination of recreational opportunities with outstanding wilderness and solitude.

The Park is full of mature woodlands, wetlands, and many species of wildflowers. The seasonal views and activities are ever-changing. Enjoy spring wildflowers, a wooded hike through the forests, and breathtaking fall colors. The miles of paved and unpaved trails draw hikers, bikers, and walkers throughout the year and offer a variety of trail experiences.

The abundance of wildlife provides great opportunities for nature study and the exploration of the natural world. Many wildflowers and bird species can be viewed along the trails and in the wetland scrapes in the Park.

WILDLIFE SCRAPE

Waukesha County Parks and the National Fish and Wildlife Service created two "wildlife scrape" areas in Fox River Park to serve as wetland habitat for waterfowl and other wildlife.

Wetlands are important places where wildlife of all kinds nest, rest during migration, and find food to survive. The area also helps to filter out pollutants and sediment from nearby runoff, capture and store flood water, and hosts a diversity of plant species.

The area around the scrapes are planted with a variety of native grasses and flowers. Regular mowing and occasional prescribed burning are used to help maintain this area as a healthy and vibrant wet-mesic prairie.

The scrapes also provide ideal viewing areas for wetland regulars, such as sandhill cranes, killdeer, marsh hawks, great egrets, swallows, painted turtles, chorus frogs, green darner dragonflies, monarch butterflies, and more.
