OLDER AMERICANS MONTH

FLIP THE SCRIPT ON AGING: MAY 2025

This May, as part of Older Americans Month, the theme is "Flipping the Script on Aging." This means we're looking at aging in a new, positive way and celebrating all that older adults bring to our lives. With help from the National Center to Reframe Aging, we're learning how to talk about aging with more respect and understanding. We are all aging!

Here's how we are changing the conversation moving forward:

- ♦ Positive Language: Instead of seeing aging as a decline, we focus on the many strengths and contributions older people offer. Older people have a lot of experience and wisdom to share and participate in so many activities.
- ♦ Talking About Health Differently: We discuss health in terms of what people can do, rather than what they can't. The National Center to Reframing Aging guides us to use encouraging words about health.
- ♦ Breaking Stereotypes: We're working to get rid of old-fashioned ideas about aging. We share real stories of older people doing great things, like mentoring, working, volunteering, and learning new things.

How You Can Help:

Let's use these new ideas to support everyone and break stereotypes. By changing how we talk and think, we can create communities that respect people of all ages.

Recipe: Bright Spring Salad

Ingredients

- 1 bunch asparagus, tender parts, chopped into 1-inch pieces
- ½ cup frozen peas, thawed
- A few handfuls salad greens
- 2 radishes, thinly sliced
- ½ cup crumbled feta cheese
- ½ avocado, pitted and diced
- ¼ cup chopped toasted pistachios
- ½ cup roasted chickpeas
- Fresh herbs, for garnish (basil, mint and/or chives)
- Sea salt and freshly ground pepper

Dressing

- ¼ cup fresh basil leaves, or a mix of basil and mint leaves
- 1 small garlic clove
- 1 tablespoon fresh lemon juice
- ½ teaspoon lemon zest
- 1 tablespoon white wine vinegar
- 2 tablespoons extra-virgin olive oil, plus more as desired
- ¼ teaspoon sea salt

Directions

- 1) Bring a large pot of salted water to a boil and set a bowl of ice water nearby. Blanch the asparagus for about 1 minute, or until tender but still bright green. Transfer to the ice water for 1 minute, then drain. Allow the asparagus to dry and transfer it back to the bowl and add the peas.
- 2) Make the dressing: In a food processor, pulse together the basil, garlic, lemon juice and zest, vinegar, olive oil, and salt. Season to taste, adding more oil as desired.
- 3) Add half of the dressing to the bowl with the asparagus and toss to coat. Season to taste with salt and pepper.
- 4) Assemble the salad. Arrange the salad greens on a platter, then layer the asparagus/pea mixture, the radishes, feta, avocado, pistachios, chickpeas, and herbs on top. Drizzle with the remaining dressing, season to taste with more salt and pepper, and serve.

Don't have all of these ingredients?

- Use what you have
- Try something new
- Make your own version of "Bright Spring Salad"

High Blood Pressure, The Sneak that Should be Managed

Dan Michaels, Community Health Educator, Waukesha County Public Health

May is National High Blood Pressure Education

Month, a wonderful time to raise awareness of the terrible sneak, high blood pressure (also called hypertension). High blood pressure is often called the "silent killer", because it is the number one cause of heart disease and stroke, however it usually has no symptoms and many that have it, are unaware. Nearly 50% of U.S. adults have high blood pressure and only about 25% have it under control. The good news is it is both preventable and manageable. Let's talk about high blood pressure, why it is important, and ways to help manage and or lower it. This topic makes this article important! Hopefully you will feel some pressure to read it.

Public Health
Prevent. Promote. Protect.

Waukesha County Public Health

We hear the term high blood pressure frequently, what exactly is it? High blood pressure is when the force of blood pushing against the walls of your arteries is constantly too high. Over time, this increased pressure can damage blood vessels and lead to serious health problems, such as heart disease, stroke, kidney damage/failure, and vision loss. In addition, high blood pressure is responsible for more deaths than all cancers combined. Normal blood pressure is usually around 120/80 (for most people, check with your health care provider to confirm what is normal for you and what is consider high). Anything consistently high which for most people is over 130/80, discuss with your health care provider if you are not working with them already. I mentioned earlier, there is good news, high blood pressure is preventable and manageable, tips are just a heartbeat away, I hope you are pumped to read the next paragraph.

Reducing your risk can be starting with small fun steps and keep at it, consistently.

Get active: on most days aim for 30 minutes of moderate exercise, walking, dancing, stretching, chasing a child or grandchild, it all counts!

Eat healthy-ish: Choose fruits, veggies, whole grains, and reduce sodium. Limit alcohol and avoid tobacco.

Manage stress: even a few minutes of daily relaxation can help including laughing more. Seriously, laughter reduces stress, which helps your heart relax. So yes, that funny video counts as self-care. Take medications if prescribed and take them consistently.

Monitor your blood pressure regularly: at home, with your healthcare provider, many pharmacies have blood pressure self-service machines, and your local health department could check your blood pressure.

High blood pressure doesn't have to be scary or boring. With a little knowledge and awareness, stress management, healthy habits, and working with your health care provider - you can keep your heart happy and your blood pressure right where it belongs. We all know life is full of pressure. Don't let it get to your heart.

Caregiver Corner

Have you noticed your neighbor struggling to complete daily tasks due to caring for a loved one full time? Has their yard work gone untouched, mail piled up, or housework gotten away from them? What better time to lend a helping hand than National Do Something Good for Your Neighbor Day!

Below is a list of ways you could offer some help or respite to a stressed-out caregiver:

- ♦ Offer to cut the grass, pull weeds, or any other kind of yardwork that has been neglected
- ♦ Invite your neighbors over for a meal, sweet treat, or coffee/tea OR drop off any of those things to their home
- ♦ Offer to walk their pet
- ♦ Offer to bring in their mail
- ♦ Take out their trash
- ♦ Offer to run any errands they may need help with (a trip to the grocery store, the post office, the pharmacy, etc.)
- ♦ Offer to watch their loved one for a period of time so that they can catch up on sleep
- ♦ Offer to tidy up their home, do the dishes, or handle any laundry they need done

Many people want to help but don't know what kind of help to offer or what the caregiver's needs are. So, if you are currently a caregiver and experiencing stress, don't be afraid to ask for help on anything from the list above or on anything else you may need. Whether it is help from a neighbor, family member, or friend, seeking help in times of caregiver burnout is imperative for your own health, as well as the well-being of the person you are caring for.

Dear Ina,

I recently heard that May is Celiac Awareness Month. I don't know anyone who has Celiac's, or even what it is. Can you help me understand Celiac disease?

Thanks,

Cecilia

Dear Cecilia,

According to Celiac Disease Foundation, Celiac disease is a serious autoimmune disease that occurs in genetically predisposed people where the ingestion of gluten leads to damage in the small intestine. It is estimated to affect 1 in 100 people worldwide, but only about 30% are properly diagnosed.

When people with celiac disease eat gluten (a protein found in wheat, rye, and barley), their body mounts an immune response that attacks the small intestine. These attacks lead to damage on the villi, small fingerlike projections that line the small intestine, that promote nutrient absorption. When the villi get damaged, nutrients cannot be absorbed properly into the body.

Celiac disease is hereditary, meaning that it runs in families. People with a first-degree relative with celiac disease (parent, child, sibling) have a 1 in 10 risk of developing celiac disease.

Celiac disease can develop at any age after people start consuming gluten. Left untreated, celiac disease can lead to additional serious health problems.

The most common symptoms in adults include:

- ⇒ Abdominal pain
- ⇒ Bloating and gas
- ⇒ Cognitive impairment
- ⇒ Constipation
- ⇒ Diarrhea
- ⇒ Depression and anxiety
- ⇒ Fatigue
- ⇒ Headaches or migraines
- ⇒ Iron-deficiency anemia
- ⇒ Itchy, blistering skin rash (dermatitis herpetiformis)
- ⇒ Joint pain
- ⇒ Missed periods
- ⇒ Mouth ulcers and canker sores
- ⇒ Nausea and vomiting
- ⇒ Osteoporosis and osteomalacia
- ⇒ Peripheral neuropathy
- ⇒ Reduced functioning of the spleen (hyposplenism)
- ⇒ Weight loss

Hope this helps you under Celiac Disease better!

Sincerely,

Ina

WHAT IS CELIAC DISEASE?

Celiac disease is a digestive disorder that damages the small intestine, triggered by eating foods containing gluten.

Managing Your Medical Costs

By the GWAAR Legal Services Team (for reprint)

As you age, your medical needs increase, leading to higher medical costs and greater difficulty in managing them. You may require more medical care than you did when you were younger, but that doesn't mean you should pay more for it. There are several things you can do to help keep your medical care costs under control. Listed below are tips to help you manage your healthcare costs.

- ♦ Understand your out-of-pocket costs. When you know what to expect, you can plan for monthly costs, such as doctor visits and medications. If you know your out-of-pocket cost for out-of-network providers, you can make more informed decisions about your care and potentially save money. You can also coordinate your care to take advantage of savings when deductibles are met.
- ♦ Check eligibility for cost-saving programs. You can save money on your monthly Medicare premiums if you are low-income by applying for a Medicare Savings Plan. You can also save money on prescription drugs with a program called Extra Help that could lower your Part D premiums, deductibles, and co-pays.
- ♦ Familiarize yourself with your medical plan's formulary. Most plans have formularies, or lists of medications that they cover. Some plans limit the number of pills you can obtain at a time and specify whether they will cover generic or brand-name medications. Switching to generic medications can save you money because these drugs are usually less expensive than name-brand medications. You may also be able to request to have a drug added to a formulary or placed at a lower tier to reduce your out-of-pocket costs.
- ♦ Ensure that your providers and pharmacies are in network. You will most likely not be covered or incur higher costs if you visit providers or pharmacies that are out of network. Contact your plan to ensure you stay in network to avoid higher costs.
- ♦ Understand coverage criteria. Research the services covered by your plan and the requirements for coverage. You can use your plan's website to look up the coverage criteria or contact your plan for more information. Take this information to your provider to ensure they know the coverage requirements to avoid unexpected costs.
- ♦ Don't be afraid to ask questions. You should be in the habit of asking your healthcare providers questions about your treatment plan and whether there might be less expensive alternatives available. Don't be afraid to ask your insurance provider to look into coverage of items or services before you receive them to help avoid unexpected costs.
- ♦ Know your right to appeal. You may have a right to appeal a denied service or medication. Keep an eye out for notices or letters that outline your right to appeal. If you have been denied coverage you believe should have been covered, you may have the right to appeal. Usually, instructions on how and where to appeal are included on the notice that outlines the denial or service charge. If you have questions, you can find help with Benefits Specialists at ADRC of Waukesha County if you live in the county.

It's important to understand your appeal rights, the cost-saving programs available to you, and your healthcare insurance plan to effectively manage medical costs. Saving money on your medical care can help ensure that your budget stretches further. Don't be surprised by medical costs; plan ahead and find answers before they become a problem.

Keep your information safe!

Shredding confidential documents is crucial to prevent identity theft, preventing unauthorized access to sensitive personal information such as Social Security numbers, bank account details, and credit card data. This practice reduces the risk of personal data exposure, ensuring privacy and safeguarding against potential financial and identity-related fraud

Consider attending one of these FREE (unless otherwise noted) paper shredding events to bring your personal paperwork to make sure it is confidentially destroyed.

Online Buying and Selling Safety

By the GWAAR Legal Services Team (for reprint)

Selling unwanted items online on sites like Facebook, Craigslist, or eBay can be a great way to make some extra money. Similarly, buying gently used or second-hand items on these sites is a great way to save money and reduce the amount of stuff that ends up in landfills. While sites like these can be great for those reasons mentioned above, they can also attract scammers trying to steal your identity, your money, or both.

Below are some tips to stay safe when buying or selling online:

- When listing an item for sale, do not include any personally identifiable information such as your phone number or home address in the listing. Similarly, when buying an item, do not respond to any suspicious request for personal information.
- Never respond to any requests for your phone number and never give out your phone number to anyone when attempting to buy or sell an item. Scammers can use your phone number to try to steal your identity. They may try to link your number with a Google voice account, so never respond to any requests for a Google voice code.

• Whether buying or selling, it is always best practice to meet up at a neutral location to make the exchange of the item, and if possible, bring another person with you to the meetup. Many police stations have parking lot areas specifically designated for this purpose.

• Check buyer/seller profiles. With Facebook marketplace, you can check a buyer or seller's profile and rating. You can also check the individual's Facebook profile. Some red flags would be if their profile was just recently created or if it lacked relevant information. If you check all this information and the person checks out, for example if you have mutual friends in common and they have a good buyer/seller rating, it is probably okay to do a "porch pickup" for smaller, low-cost items. Although, it is still best practice to always meet up at a neutral location. Do not do business with someone who has zero or significant negative feedback.

• Some red flags to look for as a buyer on these sites would be deals that look too good to be true or ads posted in multiple locations of the country.

Also, if the person posting the item lives far away from the item location, that could be another red flag. When selling, be wary of any offers that are far more than the item is worth. And whether buying or selling, beware of anyone who asks to wire money. Only use legitimate payment sites such as Venmo, PayPal, or Zelle, and only engage in these transactions when you are sure that the transaction is legitimate.

• No matter how vigilant you are, it is still possible to be scammed or have your identity stolen. If this happens, you should first report the user to the commerce site such as eBay or Facebook. Then, you will want to report the scam to your local police department. Finally, you can report the scam or fraud to the Federal Trade Commission here: reportfraud.ftc.gov or to the FBI's Internet Crime Complaint Center here: www.ic3.gov/
